Everybody's Talking!

Lit up lobes: An American fashion designer named Diana Caldarescu has come up with a novel idea that is turning the lights on, literally, in the jewelry industry. She created earrings that look like tiny chandeliers, compete with crystals and brass candle-holders. They attach to the ear using a wrap rather than the usual stud or clip. What's more, these earrings actually light up! Caldarescu figured out a way to charge the lights with a battery pack designed to be concealed behind the earlobe. Everything is in miniature size, of course. The earrings are so popular that Caldarescu is having a hard time keeping them in stock.

Rare fig tree: Bacoli, a city on the west coast of Italy, is home to ancient ruins called Parco Archeologico delle Terme di Baia. Once home to emperors and other royalty, Baia attracts many tourists, but they don't just come to see the park's ruins. One attraction within the ruins is a great draw for gawkers: a fig tree that grows upside-down. The tree's strong roots are securely fastened inside the roof of an old archway, while the plant's limbs and leaves reach toward the ground. The age of the tree is unknown, but it continues to grow each year. Occasionally, the hearty tree produces figs.

Lucky boy: Parents of a Bangladeshi boy must have heaved huge sighs of relief and joy when their teenage son, who had been missing for several days, was discovered 2,500 kilometers (1,553 mi.) away. The boy, named Fahim, had been playing hide-and-seek with his friends at a seaport in Chittagong. He chose a shipping container as a hiding spot. Inadvertently, he locked himself in, and his friends could not hear him calling. He ended up at Malaysia's Klang Port. Although tired and hungry, Fahim survived the journey. Upon discovery, he was confused and couldn't speak the local language, but he was taken to the hospital and soon recovered.

Returned vehicle: A car thief in Nova Scotia (Canada) turned out not to be a thief after all. When a woman returned to the parking lot where she'd left her Hyundai Santa Fe, she found it missing. She immediately called police. But the "thief," who owned an almost identical vehicle, had taken the woman's car by mistake. For some reason, his key fob worked on her SUV, so off he went to run his next errands, which included stopping at a gas station to fill up. Soon, though, he realized he had the wrong Hyundai, so he quickly returned the car. No damage was done, and the woman reimbursed the man for the gas.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

At week's end, you may feel particularly energetic in your desire to be of service to humanity in some way. Use this moment to reach out to like-minded souls. Lucky numbers: 9, 15, 20, 21, 26, 35.

PISCES
(Feb. 19 - March 19)

You may feel tempted to flirt with the dark side this week. If you dig deeply to understand your motivation, you might reach for a way of positive action. Lucky numbers: 2, 17, 19, 34, 35, 44.

Lucky numbers this week: This week's odds favor Aries winners with the luckiest number being 15.

Did You Know...

Weedy wonder: Many people think a dandelion is just a weed to get rid of. But this nutritious plant can be used to make many edible delights, including tea, salads, and soup.

Lightweight solution: Canadian Dianne Croteau is credited with inventing the Actar 911 mannequin, in 1989, which many people have used to learn CPR. Previous mannequins were life-sized and heavy.

Famous tower: At 300 meters (984 ft.) tall, the Eiffel Tower has graced the Paris, France, skyline for over 130 years. Engineer Gustave Eiffel raised a French flag at the tower's March 31, 1889, inauguration.

Lebanon-born actor: Keanu Reeves of the Matrix trilogy and John Wick series fame, spent part of his youth in Toronto, Ontario (Canada). He loved playing goalie in ice hockey and was nicknamed "The Wall."

Tooth talk: The tooth fairy does not come to children in some Middle Eastern countries. Instead, kids toss their baby tooth toward the sun, while requesting a new tooth.

On the Lighter Side

Why do birds fly south for the winter? It's easier than walking.

This small sweater fits great, but it's hard to pull off.

There was a very indecisive rower. He couldn't pick either oar.

Boy: "I'd like some birdseed, please."
Shopkeeper: "How many birds do you have?"
Boy: "None yet. I'm going to grow some."

Knock! Knock! Who's there? Beth. Beth who? I didn't sneeze!
